Welcome to the end of week 2!

It's been an interesting week at OSHC this week, with an extension of science week had us making slime, which the children seemed to love.

We've also been working with clay over the past 3 weeks of school. We used real clay (as in dirt) for the last week of last term and introduced a much cleaner form called air-dry clay this term. There seemed to be a general distaste for the messy nature of real clay, with the children enjoying the much cleaner air-dry clay. It's also a lot easier to paint.

Next week is paddlepop week for us. The children will be using their imagination to create their own cars, trucks, and houses. We hope to have an entire paddlepop stick city by the end of term.

Activities coming up

- Paddlepop town
- Skipping skills practice

What's on the menu

- BBQ Rice Crackers
- Baked beans/spaghetti
- Fruit salad
